

Janet Gamble

Turtle Creek Gardens

Janet Gamble has over 30 years experience in organic and biodynamic agriculture as a farmer and educator. For the past 15 years, Janet has developed and led a nationally recognized farmer-training program at the Michael Fields Agricultural Institute where she is still active in Educational Outreach for beginning farmers.

Gamble's experience extends to her voluntary involvement on the Board of Directors for the National Biodynamic Farming and Gardening Association, Angelic Organics Learning Center, Citizen Advisory Committee for Integrated Agriculture Science at UW-Madison, and founding board member for Midwest Organic Sustainable Education Services (MOSES). She also provides other educational and advisory support for non-profits, government agencies, and farmers.

Currently, Janet is farm manager at Turtle Creek Gardens, which is developing a vegetable CSA in Delevan Wisconsin. "It is my task to grow nutritionally dense food for the well being and health of all people with the utmost respect for the earth and with the intention of passing knowledge to others."
